CRISIS IN WEST VIRGINIA WAR NEAR

SEVENTEEN INJURED AS PENNSYLVANIA TRAIN LEAVES RAILS NEAR COSHOCTON LATE FRIDAY

SCORES OF STATE FAIR VISITORS ON BOARD FAST TRAIN

None Seriously Hurt as Flyer Plunges Into Embankment.

TRACK TORN UP

Spreading Rails Caused
Accident at 11:30 p. m.
On Friday.

Coshocton, O., Sept. 3.—Seventeen people were injured, none seriously, when east bound Pennsylvania passenger train No. 34 left the rails five miles west of here at 11:30 last night. Seven coaches, making 60 miles an hour, plunged into a steep bank, with resultant scratches and bruises to scores of state fair visitors on route home. Two hundred feet of track were destroyed, but workmen had restored one track early today. The wreck was caused by spreading rails.

The list of injured includes: Mrs. Peal Laurens, New Comerstown, O.; Abe McGonick, Cleveland, O.; Arthur Schloer, Columbus, O.; Mrs. Caroline Hirsch, New York City; Mrs. J. F. Hirsch, New York City; Charles F. McFarland and wife, Wapakoneta, O.; Michael Schleimer, North Chicago, Ill.; John B. Plummer, Stewartstown, Pa.; D. C. Fowler, New Comerstown, O.; Mrs. George Wolf, Philadelphia, Pa.; Peter Alexi, Chicago; G. W. Beard, Peach Bottom, Pa.; Lola Scheigal, New York City; Mrs. R. F. Peters, Reading, Pa.; Robert Jacob, Central Port, L. I., N. Y.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 3.—Advices received at the offices of the Pennsylvania railroad here today stated that Pennsylvania railroad train No. 34, known as the seaboard express from St. Louis to New York, was wrecked at midnight at Coshocton, Ohio, and ten people were more or less injured.

ATLANTIC CITY VERY WET SPOT

Atlantic City, N. J., September 3.—The liquor lid is tilted at a dangerous angle at Atlantic City once again and America's wettest spot is getting ready for another plunge into alcoholic happiness.

The cause of all this cheer is the report from circles close to officialdom that there will be no jail sentences forthcoming as a result of the raids and record breaking number of arrests Monday and Tuesday. All the gloom went by the boards when word leaked out that instead of $500 fines and jail terms the fines would merely be imposed and now the streets and boardwalk again are plentiful with bibulous individuals.

The officials insist that the lid is on tight, but cafe men insist the merry bowl will be flowing at full speed again for Labor Day and the price is down to normal.

PAINFULLY BRUISED BY FALL FROM WHEEL

Robert Bradley, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bradley of South Monroe Street, suffered painful bruises, especially about the head, when he fell from his bicycle while riding on the viaduct Friday afternoon at one o'clock.

The boy does not know how he was thrown from the wheel. He was taken to the McClellan Hospital where it was found no bones were broken and that his only injuries consisted of bruises and scratches, and later in the evening was removed to his home.

TEACHER DIES

Cincinnati, Sept. 3.—Prof. William H. Pabodie, 87, for more than 50 years teacher of Greek and Latin in Woodward High School, died at his home in Wyoming, a suburb, last night. Prof. Pabodie was born in Providence, R. I. After graduating at Brown University he came to Cincinnati, taught in the public schools and, at Woodward, Chief Justice William H. Taft of the U. S. Supreme court was a pupil of Prof. Pabodie at Woodward.

HARDING IN PRESS CLUB

Washington, September 3.—A delegation representing the Baltimore Press Club called on President Harding to notify him of his election to be an honorary member of the organization, both as President and as a publisher.

Pension Plan Offered As Substitute To Bonus Bill

Project Likely to Prove Determining Factor in Whatever
System of Taxation Is Adopted Next Year By Congress

Washington, Sept. 3.—A service men's pension plan as a substitute for the so-called soldiers' bonus is being considered by administration leaders today in connection with tax revision.

While the pension plan contemplated may not be worked out immediately or may not be presented to

SENTIMENT OF WORLD ON ARMS ISSUE TAKEN

Canvass Taken By League
Assembly On Eve Of Conference.

London, Sept. 3.—A measure of world sentiment on disarmament on the eve of the Washington conference may be taken from the result of a canvass by the league of nations assembly, which according to a Central News dispatch was as follows:

Twenty-seven nations replied to the assembly's notes outlining the league's scheme for disarmament.

Of this total, 15 adopted the assembly's views.

Seven did not accept them, citing their own "special geographical and political situation. The five others reported that armament cuts have already been taken.

KAISER'S ESCAPE BRANDED UNTRUE

The Hague, Sept. 3.—The ex-kaiser is still in his castle at Doorn, the International News Service was authoritatively informed today.

Paris dispatches yesterday quoted the newspaper L'Intransigeant as reporting the former German emperor had escaped from his exile in Holland, presumably for a coup to regain his throne.

EXPLORERS TO SAIL

London, Sept. 3.—Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition, which will explore land areas of the Antarctic continent, south of Africa, during the coming two years, will leave about Sept. 12 it is expected.

The steamer Quest, upon which the explorers will make their voyage, was found to give inadequate accommodations for the increased personnel found to be necessary after the program to be followed was increased. The alterations made on the ship have delayed the work of fitting out the expedition.

COLLEGE WILL OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 13

Wilmington, Sept. 3.—The winter term of Wilmington College will begin Sept. 13, it is announced. The first day will be occupied by registration and placing of students in dormitories.

It is expected that the attendance for the winter term this year will be larger than ever before. Already a great many students have spoken for apartments in the dormitories and everything promises to make the year a most successful one.

YORK TO ADDRESS CAMP MEETING

Circleville, Sept. 3.—Alvin C. York, world war hero, will relate the experiences of his life at the Mount of Praise Camp Grounds, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, where the Churches of Christ in Christian Union camp meeting is under way.

York, a Tennessee mountaineer, and earnest member of the above church was the greatest hero this world war produced insofar as capturing prisoners was concerned.

SESSION CLOSES SUNDAY

Newark, O., Sept. 3.—The North Ohio annual conference of the Christian Union Churches is in session here with a large attendance of the pastors of that denomination throughout central and northern Ohio. It will close on Sunday.

congress until next year, it is likely to prove one of the determining factors in whatever system of taxation, is adopted finally to meet the government's estimated obligations and running expenses during the following calendar year.

Administration leaders are suggesting that Senator Smoot's plan for a modified commodities sales tax in the guise of a manufacturers' tax of three per cent be held back as a possible means of financing the pension plan when the time is ripe for it.

The suggestion that the sales tax might be used to raise revenue necessary to provide service men with pensions in lieu of the bonus denied them, is said by Republican senators closely associated with the administration to have been discussed with President Harding by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon this week.

Secretary Mellon and Republican house leader, Mondell are both credited by these senators with seeking to have the Smoot plan deferred so that the administration could fall back upon it when it is ready to put the proposed pension plan into operation.

The openness of mind coupled with the administration leaders' suggestion that the Smoot plan might be well used later on as a possible source of revenue for the proposed service men's pension plan, is construed by its advocates as additional evidence that the sales tax idea will prevail eventually.

STORM IN DAYTON FRIDAY EVENING CAUSES DAMAGE

A severe cyclonic wind and rain storm accompanied by much electrical display, that visited Dayton Friday evening, seemed to pass around this city.

Although a slight rain fell here between five and six o'clock, Friday evening, the rainfall was not heavy and there was no high wind. About 11:30 o'clock Friday, the rain again set in and kept up in a slight drizzle practically all night, breaking out into a heavy shower early Saturday morning.

At Dayton, however, several sections of the city were out of telephone service due to wires being down, plate glass windows were blown in and broken, trees were uprooted and blown across the streets, automobiles were damaged, and thousands of dollars damages caused.

GAS DISTRIBUTION ORDERED STARTED

Columbus, O., Sept. 3.—Believing that "the security and health of the public," require it, the state utilities commission has ordered the Medina Gas and Fuel Company to immediately resume its distribution of natural gas to local distributing companies at Lima, Celina, St. Marys and Wapakoneta.

The Medina company cut off its supply to these places Thursday after an extended disagreement between authorities of these municipalities and the producing and distributing companies as to rates to be charged. The Lima council insisted upon a 55 cent maximum rate while the distributing companies asked for $1.10 per 1,000 cubic feet.

The state utilities commission decreed that resumption of service shall "remain in effect until the further order of this commission, or until respective rights and liabilities of said companies are legally adjusted."

WANT LEGAL STEPS

Wooster, Sept. 3.—"It's up to our attorneys to advise us what to do," said Ira L. Neely, general manager of Medina Gas and Fuel Company here, five minutes after he had received an order from the state utilities commission ordering his company to resume service to Lima and three nearby towns. "We haven't decided what we will do but we won't turn on the gas unless we absolutely have to," he said.

WOODEN SHIPS NO GOOD SAYS CHIEF LASKER

Shipping Board Head Declares Campaign Was Failure.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Albert D. Lasker, chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board in Chicago, today declared that the greatest advertising campaign ever conducted, had failed in its purpose, which was to dispose of the wooden ships of the country's emergency fleet. Failure of the shipping board's sales campaign, Lasker said, proved that the wooden ships are worthless and that no one wants them.

Despite the widespread advertising and publicity campaign which the shipping board undertook, Lasker said, just one bid for the fleet of 280 boats was received.

Prospects for a permanent merchant marine, Lasker said, are good and a commercial fleet that will afford adequate transportation in the event of war and give the United States its share of world trade in times of peace, will be developed.

NO IRREGULARITIES FOUND IN RECORDS

Columbus, Sept. 3.—No irregularities are found in the records of Warden Thomas relative to the action of the former state clemency board in paroling Walter Brant and Leonard Lyons, Cleveland prisoners from the penitentiary.

This is the information given by the warden to the new state pardon and parole board which requested information from the warden in connection with the request of Gov. Davis that the board cancel the paroles of these men, if possible.

Warden Thomas, however, told the new board that if Brant and Lyons are in Cleveland they should be returned to the penitentiary for violating their paroles which were granted on condition that they remain out of Ohio.

FAIR NEAR END

Columbus, Sept. 3.—The state fair ends today. This is "Children's and Sports Day."

Boys and girls under 14 are admitted free. Special attractions include a state horse shoe contest, amateur field and track meet and auto races, instead of horse racing. Prizes totalling $3500 will be divided among the winners of the auto races. Yesterday's attendance was 33,958. On Friday last year state fair visitors totalled 41,716.

MANY KILLED

Madrid, Sept. 3.—More than a hundred Moroccan Moors were killed or wounded in Wednesday's fighting in the Melilla district, it was learned today. Since then the fighting has become sporadic.

NIGHT OF FIGHTING TAKES PLACE OF GENERAL ATTACK; MARTIAL LAW BELIEVED UNNECESSARY

Indescribable Plight of Russia Told By Woman

American Correspondent Who Succeeds In Getting From Warsaw Direct to Moscow Tells Story of Terrible Suffering and Desolation.

Note: The author of the subjoined dispatch is the only American correspondent who succeeded in getting from Warsaw direct to Moscow. The trip took her fifty-four hours, the roads being clogged up by the caravans of thousands of Polish refugees. Miss Strong made the greater part of the journey in a box car.

By ANNA LOUISE STRONG
Moscow, Sept. 3.—In the course of my arduous voyage from Warsaw to the soviet capital I found that Poland also is grievously stricken by food shortage and epidemics. Hundreds of Polish refugees camped on the railroad tracks. Fire had partly wiped out numberless villages, and there are areas, formerly prosperous and well ordered that now present a desolate wilderness. Thousands are without shelter and food.

There is no chance of land cultivation for there is no agricultural machinery. There are parts where no plow has been seen in years.

Polish quarantine headquarters at Baronowice, capable of accommodating four thousand, is now swamped by 12,000 men, women and children. Last week according to the authorities, there were even 18,000.

Russia was in fair condition until last year, when the great drought set in but living was still possible then. This year it is practically impossible.

All Russia is praying for rain, but no rain comes. The withered branches are symbolic of the indescribable plight that has stricken at least a hundred million people and from which there seems to be no salvation. Humans and animals are dying like flies.

The populations of whole villages are fleeing to Siberia. The food ration, meagre as they have been for months, are growing smaller and smaller.

From Minsk to Moscow I was fortunate in travelling in a fast special train, carrying mostly reparations officials and doctors. The train had the long forgotten luxury of a buffet aboard and there was free tea for all passengers. All along the route we could see huge posters advertising shows and balls for the benefit of plague and famine sufferers.

Swarms of barefooted boys, clad only in a single garment, are working tirelessly and collecting help for the poorer districts.

On the train the sole topic of conversation was, of course, the famine and its effect on the people. All agreed that the Russian people are showing a remarkable spirit

REPORTS DENIED

Riga, Sept. 3.—The soviet press today denied reports which had been circulated here that Nicolai Lenin, the bolshevik premier, is willing to hand over his power to the Patriarch Tichen of Moscow, and to form a coalition ministry of communists and members of the revolutionary Left.

MENACED BY FIRE

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Several large industrial plants in the stockyards district were menaced early today by a fire that partially destroyed the fertilizing plant of Darling and Company. The loss was estimated at $40,000. An explosion of a boiler caused the fire.

PLOT REVEALED

Copenhagen, Sept. 3.—A plot to overthrow the Russian soviet government and murder the bolshevik leaders has been discovered in Petrograd, according to a dispatch to the newspaper Politiken today.

FIVE PERISH AS INCENDIARY FIRE SWEEPS FOUR STORY TENEMENT HOUSE IN NEW YORK

COST OF FOOD TAKES JUMP IN SINGLE MONTH

Increases of From One to Six Per Cent
Are Noted.

Washington, Sept. 3.—The retail cost of food took a jump in 14 cities during the period from July 15, ranging from one per cent in Little Rock, Ark., Salt Lake City and Denver, to 6 per cent in Philadelphia. The bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor announced today.

There was a 5 per cent increase in Chicago and Washington while in Kansas City, the increase amounted to 4 per cent. The increase amounted to 3 per cent in St. Louis and Springfield, Ill., and 2 per cent in Peoria, Ills.

For the year period August 15, 1920 to August 15, 1921, however, there was a decrease of 28 per cent in Denver, Little Rock, St. Louis and Salt Lake City. In Peoria and Springfield, Ill., it was 26 per cent; in Kansas City 24 per cent and in Chicago 23 per cent.

As compared with the average cost in 1913, the retail cost of food on August 15 last showed an increase of 61 per cent in Chicago; 55 per cent in Kansas City; 54 per cent in St. Louis; 44 per cent in Little Rock; 42 per cent in Denver and 35 per cent in Salt Lake City. The department was unable to give comparative figures for Springfield or Peoria, Ills.

POLITICAL STORM IN GERMANY OVER

Berlin, Sept. 3.—The violent political storm that was unleashed by the assassination of Dr. Matthias Erzberger a week ago, is subsiding at least and the Wirth government heaved a sigh of relief today, satisfied that one of the gravest crises of its career has blown over.

When the situation was most threatening, the government evinced a spirit of "give and take" and after many animated conferences with party leaders an agreement was effected. One of its results was the rescinding today of the order suppressing the conservative organ, the Lokal Anzeiger.

HARDING TO CRUISE

Washington, Sept. 3.—Unless the West Virginia situation becomes more threatening, President and Mrs. Harding will leave on the Mayflower at 3 o'clock today for a cruise on the Potomac river and Chesapeake Bay, it was announced at the White House. No landing is planned and the party will return here Tuesday.

The guests include Secretary of State and Mrs. Hughes; Secretary of War Weeks; Senator and Mrs. Watson, of Indiana; Rep. and Mrs. Mondell of Wyoming; Mr. and Mrs. George Van Fleet, of Marion, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Scobey of San Antonio, Texas and Miss Agla Harding of Marion.

origin, swept a four story tenement building in First Avenue. Their escape had been cut off by the burning away of a stair case.

The strong smell of oil together with the discovery of a broken lamp gave police their clue to the manner in which the fire was started. The alarm was given by passing autoist. Two persons were seriously injured.

FIFTY SEVEN DEAD RESULT OF NINE DAYS OF WARFARE

Arrival Of Federal Troops
Saturday Expected To Quiet Outbreak

COST IS ENORMOUS

Administration Will Not Establish Martial Law
Until Necessary.

Logan, W. Va., Sept. 3.—The bodies of two unidentified miners were brought in from the Blair mountain district this morning. They were probably killed in last night's fighting. No other casualties were officially reported during the night.

Heavy firing broke out at Crooked Creek at 10 a. m. Snipers were active on the road between Ethel and Logan. They are thought to be sympathizers with the miners. All passing cars are fired upon.

There is said to be no danger of the miners breaking through at Crooked creek.

Madison, W. Va., Sept. 3.—Three hundred federal troops arrived on the Logan-Boone border line, this morning.

Communication has not yet been established between the troops and Col. C. A. Martin, commanding at headquarters here.

Seven hundred troops under command of Col. Martin arrived here early this morning.

The commanding officer immediately dispatched a special train with 300 men to Sharples, ten miles back of the Logan border.

Sharples has been a big concentrating point of the miners.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Today will see the crisis in West Virginia warfare in the opinion of officials.

With federal troops in the trouble zones in full force today, Secretary of War Weeks again expressed the hope that the armed miners would now disperse and return to their homes and that a proclamation of martial law would be unnecessary.

Adjutant General Harris stated this morning that the last report received from Gen. Bandholtz came in early today and reported the situation quiet. Gen. Bandholtz made no mention of necessity for martial law in this report, the adjutant general said.

One reason that the administration is loath to declare martial law is that it might interfere with business in the West Virginia and coal regions, it was stated. It is the hope of officials that after the arrival of federal troops the situation will be such that military rule will not be necessary.

Logan, W. Va., Sept. 3.—The day-break danger period passed this morning without the general offensive of miners that has marked the last three days.

Another night of fighting has passed. Firing was general over the entire front of twenty five miles, but according to early reports no general attack was attempted by the miners. The firing consisted chiefly of sniping.

That the miners will get "cold feet" when the troops arrive was the general opinion.

However, defenders of Logan declare that it will be many weeks before order is completely restored. They say trouble will continue in isolated sections and that the authorities will be confronted by a tremendous problem in ironing out the situation.

The most severe fighting late yesterday and early today is reported at Blair mountain and Crooked Creek. Four Loganites and several miners are declared to have been killed at Blair mountain yesterday.

A heavy attack was launched late last night at Crooked Creek. The miners were able to make slight progress, but were later thrown back with losses according to the defenders.

Fifty seven are dead and as many wounded as a result of the nine days of industrial warfare raging in the West Virginia mountains.

The casualty list is unofficial but is believed to be conservative, being culminated from reports reaching headquarters of the defenders at Logan Courthouse.

Already the war has cost the Logan county authorities and coal operators more than half a million dollars. It was officially stated that $3,500 a day is being spent to maintain the defensive forces. Over 3,500 men are either on the twenty five miles of front or in reserve at the town of Logan.

In addition to the cost of keeping the army in food and other supplies, an enormous sum of money was spent for equipment which includes everything from army kitchens to airplanes. These were purchased by the Logan coal operators, prior to breaking out of hostilities.

Matching Superior Horses Will Decide World Champ

"GOLF IS FAMILY TIE," SAYS NORTH

Boston, Mass.—"Golf widows" are imaginary beings. Golf does not disrupt the domestic tranquility of families. On the contrary, it unites families in common avocation and leads to happiness and harmony.

William H. North, head of three generations of golf players and who, son, has made golf history in Massachusetts, says so.

The North family played in the "father and son tournament" held at the Winchester Country Club a few days ago.

Youth

It was a day of victory for the sons of the North family. William L., aged 15, scored 11 strokes for a 92, beating his father by a generous margin. The latter, Howard M. North of Wellesley, aged 42, defeated his father, William H., by a narrow margin.

The grandfather thinks that the golf talents of his son and grandson are, in reality, the hereditary tendencies of his own skill.

He is 69.

Moral

"I believe a man's first thought should be for his business," says the grandfather. "But when he has the time there is no avocation in the world that will benefit a man as much physically, mentally and morally as golf."

"I say morally because it throws a fellow in with a set of men who are worth knowing."

Mental

"There is no game in the world that will occupy a man's mind so completely, to the exclusion of everything else, as golf. For that reason it is the best mental avocation."

"When I play golf I think of nothing but golf."

PHYSICAL

"The exercise one obtains from walking over the courses could not be of more physical benefit. I have played golf for 30 years, and I am as enthusiastic and taken up with the game today as I was when I made my first drive."

"The golf widow is more imaginary than real."

"Golf can be made an inspiration to families, drawing them together. My son, grandson, wife and daughter-

SPOKE, AS SALVAGER, WINS

This Speaker is an expert salvager.

His efficiency in salvaging baseball scrap heaps may spell another pennant for him.

In the fall of 1919 Speaker came within an ace of winning his first pennant. If it had there would have been no Black Sox. But he didn't.

He came close and that was due to the fact he had Ray Caldwell on his pitching staff. Caldwell was an out-cast by Boston and New York, but he came to Speaker and solemnly swore he could get in shape and win games.

Speaker is firm believer in his fellow man. He believes in human nature, so has made a success as a manager. The confidence Speaker put in Caldwell gave him a winning pitcher.

Last year he took Duster Mails, in-law all play golf.

once cast aside by the Brooklyn Dodgers. What Duster did is history now.

This year it is Allen Sothoron-Sothoron is one of the headiest pitchers in baseball. Before they barred freak deliveries Allen always was experimenting with the ball.

He had it doing all sorts of tricks. After the freaks were barred, Allen lost interest. He braced several times, but always slid back in the rut. Finally they let him go to Boston. But Hugh Duffy couldn't see him there. He didn't stay long.

Speaker felt his pitching staff weakening under the strain and again he decided to invest in his supreme confidence in human nature. His belief in Sothoron was pay dirt. Allen has regained his old form and today is helping Cleveland in its bitterest pennant fight.

Single G, world champion pacer and Peter Manning, greatest trotter of the present time will race at Hartford, Conn., Sept. 6, for the world's championship of harness racing.

The purse is $5,000. It will be a two-heat race against time.

Each horse will be timed separately. Their owners, W. B. Barefoot, Cambridge, Mass., of Single G, and

YEAR OF WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS

Matching supers is making 1921 a red letter year in sport.

Jack Dempsey really won the world's heavyweight championship of boxing by knocking out Georges Carpentier, European champion, July 2.

William T. Tilden, successfully defended his world's championship tennis title at Wimbledon, England, several weeks ago.

Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, by defeating Miss Suzanne Lenglen in tennis, practically has clear claim to the world's championship in woman's tennis.

Jack Hutchison, winner of the English open golf title, and Jim Barnes, winner of the American open will play a match game Labor Day to decide who is the world's champion golfer.

Single G, world's champion pacer, and Peter Manning, world's champion five year old trotting gelding meet in a match race, Sept. 6, to decide the harness championship of the world.

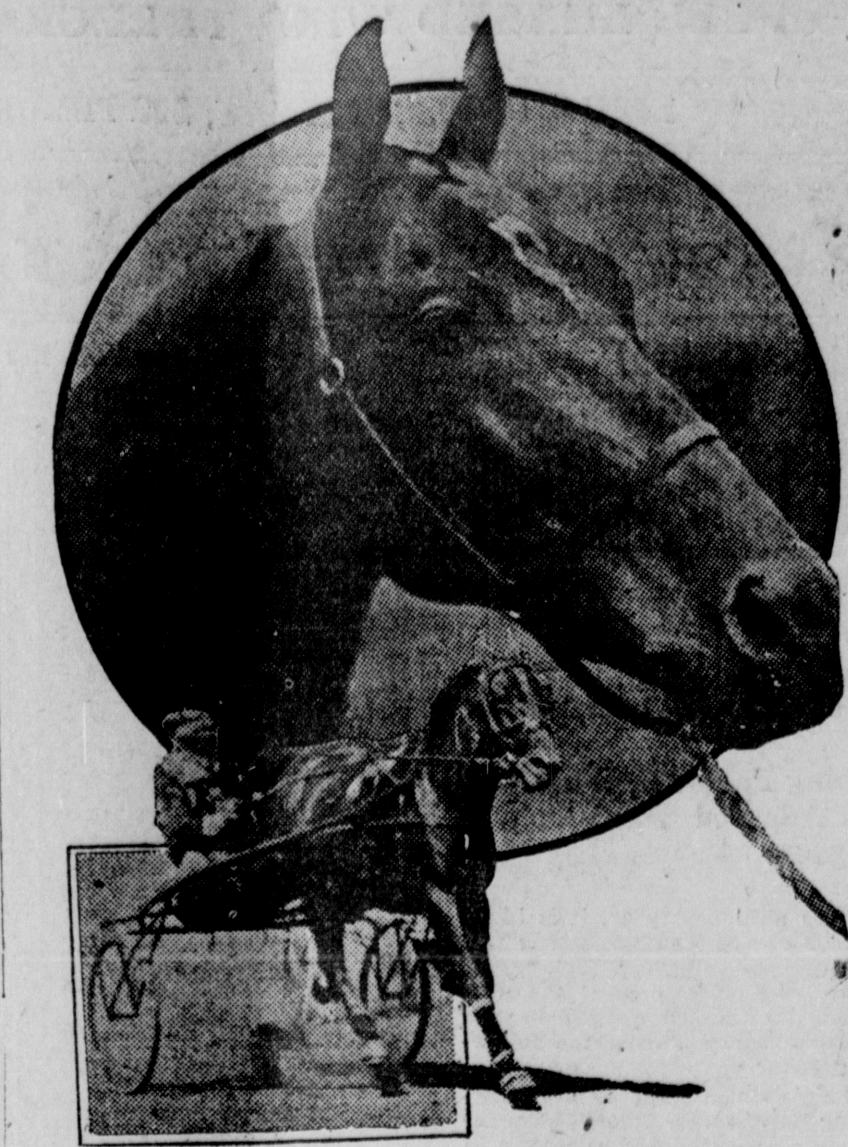

I. W. Gleason, Williamsport, Pa., of Peter Manning, have placed a side bet of $10,000.

Single G, nine year old stallion, recently paced his best record of 1:59 flat at North Randall track, Cleveland, against time.

They are the two most colorful horses pulling sulkeys this season. The packing king has been cacing steadily around the two minute class since his debut in 1913.

During his career he has raced a total of 307 heats and has won 179 of them, always being put against the best horses of the track.

Single G, has been a star ever since he started.

SING LE G

No pacer has ever done what this horse has year after year.

Each season he has shown more stamina and speed.

In the race when he set his 1:59 record he was given the equivalent of a first-money purse because there would have been no reason for starting him in a free-for-all event which he was certain to have won.

This season he has worked in six races and won every heat.

During 1918 he won ten of fourteen races, cutting his mark to 1:59 1-2.

In 1919 Single G took five of twelve races. His best mile that season was 1:59 3-4. Horsemen tabbed the great pacer as through.

But in 1920 he showed greater form, racing the fastest three-heat race ever paced by a horse, the average time of his miles being 1:59 23-25.

The trotter he is to race at Hartford, Peter Manning has been barred this season because of his class.

Single G has the fastest record by 1 1-4 seconds.

In actual competition it is a sporting chance which will reel off the fastest mile.

THIS IS VETERANS' YEAR IN SPORT

Old heads are still carrying the athletic load.

The year of 1921 has been a veterans' year.

When it comes right down to a question of picking our best in any sport the experienced players are the ones we rely on.

The veterans have won all the trophies.

New and younger stars flash forth for a time. For the moment we think they are world-beaters. Then they fade into the background as the oldsters go to the head of the class when the real test comes.

Our Best

In baseball, Ty Cobb is still blooming. Harry Hellman his pupil, is outshining him by a few points but Ty is the more valuable man to his team.

Jim Bares, who has been a star on the links for years, won the national open.

No one has supplanted William Tilden and William Johnston in tennis.

Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, Mary K. Browne, Mrs. May Sutton Bundy—all champions of the past—fought it out at Forest Hills for the supremacy.

Young talent in sport promises much, but it hasn't aged enough yet to bring home the bacon.

Losers

French moving picture exhibitors won't show pictures of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight.

They refuse to make a display of a countryman fallen.

Some call it patriotism. Others say they are poor losers.

Good losers are few and they usually win.

Poor losers are many and they usually lose.

Foresight

Jock Hutchison, professional at the Glen View club, Chicago, believes that one way to improve golf is to improve the caddies.

He will try out a system of classifying caddies. The class A boys will be equipped with red caps and the class B boys with white ones.

This will stimulate interest among the club carriers and materially benefit all.

Many clubs are aiding in the "better" caddie movement by setting aside certain days a week for caddies to play on the course.

Commendable

Bill Killefer has signed a young pitcher who doesn't play Sunday baseball.

He is Victor Keene, a son of a Philadelphia minister.

The boy has been offered big stakes to pitch on Sunday but he won't cross his father's wishes.

There's something very commendable about such a fellow.

The boy has won 36 victories in a row this summer in college and semi-pro ball.

No Butterfly

Miss Cecil Leitch, conqueror of Alexia Stirling, is sailing over from England.

She is coming mainly as a compliment to Alexia who visited England in an effort to win the woman's golf title and failed.

The Atlanta girl gave the Britons thrills until beaten by a sturdier type of golfer, Miss Leitch, herself.

And now we will see the woman who beat Alexia.

The British star is not the butterfly type like Miss Suzanne Lenglen.

Percentage

Putting boxing on a percentage basis in New York is a precedent that should be followed everywhere.

No fighter is worth more than he can draw.

Big purses look good in print.

They hurt the game by souring fans on the commercial side of the game.

When a fighter gets his divvy before he steps into the ring he has lost the incentive to do his best.

Pay them after they fight on what they draw, promoters and you'll be shaking hands with better boxing.

LEFT EARPUL

Miss Lenglen's plans are changeable.

Here in the U. S. A.

Like Hamlet she can't quite decide "To play or not to play."

RIGHT EARPUL

Tex watches all the clever guys

And nips them in the bud—

He matches them for coin which makes

Them hit to spill the blood.

DINNER STORIES

Judge White is telling with remin of his encounter with a certain young mistress of the Whitehouse district. It seems her husband had been spending most of his nights at the club and the lady hinted to his honor that one of these days she might bring the matter into court. The other day, however, encountering the judge on the street, she buttonholed him, saying:

"Judge, I'm so sorry I said all those things about my husband. He can go to the club all he wants to and I'll never say a word."

"Why the change of heart?" asked White, curiously.

"Well, the other night a burglar broke into the house and my husband laid him out with a poker. I had heard that he was a poker expert and now I understand. The dear boy has been spending his nights preparing for just such an emergency."

RUSSIAN RELIEF DIRECTOR LEAVES U. S. ON SATURDAY

New York, Sept. 3.—Calm, confident and unafraid of the gigantic task of Russian relief that confronts him, Col. William H. Haskell, director of Russian relief of the American relief commission in a farewell interview today emphasized the absolute independence and disinterestedness of the work to be done under his direction. Col. Haskell and a party of fifteen experienced relief workers were to sail today on the Olympic.

"Mr. Hoover said that the service we are able to perform must be in the true spirit of charity," said Col. Haskell. "There must be no discrimination as to race, politics or creed. If a man among us fails to live up to this standard; if he engages in politics or business—if he even brings a letter or a package into—'I'll send him home.'"

"Are you going to take orders from the league of nations relief officials?" he was asked. Col. Haskell's blue eyes blazed. "I take my orders from Mr. Hoover only," he replied. "But we'll cooperate with anybody. There's plenty of room in Russia for everyone that wants to do relief work there. They can have as much of the country to work in as they want."

MINERS MOVE BACK

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 3.—Word has reached here that with the arrival of the federal troops the miners are moving back from their entrenched positions in the mountains preparatory to returning to their homes.

The feeling is general here that the end of the fighting, if it already has not come, is in sight. It is believed today will mark the end of hostilities.

The miners, it is said feel that with federal troops on the scene they will be able to return safely to their homes with the assurance that their interests will be protected. The arrival of the troops was welcomed by the miners, it was reported here.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 3.—The Western Union telegraph company reported today that its wire had been cut last night east of here this side of Montgomery.

Disarming of the miners is expected to begin today and it is thought that in a few days the federal troops will clear up the situation.

Reports today from sources considered reliable indicated that the armed miners already have begun to break up.

Several officials of United Mine Workers are in the disturbed area and are believed to have spread the news among the men that federal troops have arrived.

FUNERALS HELD

Williamson, W. Va., Sept. 3.—Forty two funerals for miners killed in the fighting on the Logan-Boone county border were held Friday in Blair, Sheriff A. C. Pinnson was informed in a telephone message from the sheriff's office at Logan today.

One of the miners captured while rushing a machine gun of the defenders, died late Friday in the Logan hospital from wounds received in the encounter. Sheriff Chafin, of Logan county stated this man made a dying declaration in which he charged the United Mine Workers with responsibility for his being on the battle front. The names of those who induced him to take part in the fighting were given in his statement.

DAVIS CUP WILL NOT GO TO TOKIO IT IS BELIEVED

Forest Hills, L. I., Sept. 3.—The Davis cup will not go to Tokio. America's dashing defenders of the world famous tennis trophy had this point all but clinched today as a result of two victories in the opening singles matches.

The American team now needs but one more victory out of three remaining matches with the Japanese players and if R. Norris Williams and Watson Washburn win in the doubles this afternoon the cup contest will be over.

The program today was originally taken up with the doubles match between the Williams-Washburn combination and Kumagae and Shimidzu, but a specially arranged mixed doubles event with Mlle. Lenglen playing the leading role seemed destined to be the real attraction.

The French champion, paired with Vincent Richards, was scheduled to meet Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Willis E. Davis in an exhibition match. Mlle. Lenglen has recovered from the throat affection that resulted in her default to Mrs. Mallory in the recent women's singles championship and has been practicing about a week. She is thoroughly acclimated now and capable of playing the brand of tennis that won her every European championship in the women division of tennis.

XENIA GOLF TEAM TO PLAY IN DAYTON

A special team of golfers from the Xenia Country Club is practicing faithfully for the team match with the McGregor Golf Club team, Dayton, to be played on the McGregor links Sunday afternoon.

Fifteen Xenia Club players will be pitted against a like number from the McGregor Club in a match that will be watched with interest. A number of teams outside of Dayton have attempted to take the measure of Dayton golf teams, without success, and as it is now Xenia's turn to meet a Dayton team on the links, the interest in the match is unusually great.

Teams from Piqua, Union City, Cincinnati, Springfield, and Eaton have been unable to defeat the Dayton teams they met so far, but the local golfers believe that they will turn the tables on at least one Dayton Club Sunday. J. E. Kelly, president of the local club, and runner up for the Dayton city championship last fall, will head the local team, and will be matched as follows: Crawford Craig vs. Joe Short; R. A. Kelly vs. R. Link; Steele Postage vs. F. Hunter; John Davidson vs. E. Ary; Harry Williams vs. G. W. Matern; Louis Brandenburg vs. M. Nenninger; Roy Ary vs. C. Ordway; Dr. Eber J. Reynolds vs. R. Matern; C. W. Murphy vs. R. Keith; A. L. Regan vs. Loebe; H. L. Sletre vs. George Meeker, Sr.; A. M. Dyer vs. A. Babbelt; A. H. Finley vs. A. Eaton and G. R. Kelly vs. Ed Heeter.

STAGE REAL BOUT

Smith challenged the winner of the bout between Leahy and "Dudue" Butler, now with the carnival and formerly of this city, and when Leahy won the match was arranged between Leahy and Smith. The box fights are creating more than the usual interest from followers of the padded glove art.

TEAM TO PRACTICE

The American Legion football team will practice at Reserve Park Sunday morning at ten o'clock, daylight saving time.

One assembly is opposite Merriam, four miles east of Williamson, where heavy fighting took place during the three days battle last May. A considerable force assembled at Kermit but was dispersed.

CITY SCHOOLS TO HAVE SIXTEEN NEW TEACHERS IN FALL

Miss Margaret Clark, teacher of mathematics science and music in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the Central grade school, has withdrawn from the teaching staff, taking the action this week.

Her place will be taken by Mrs. Florence McKeever, formerly teacher of the third grade at the McKinley school building, according to Superintendent of Schools C. A. Waltz. Mrs. McKeever's place will be taken by Miss Alma Banker, of the Central Grades, and Miss Banker's position as third grade teacher at Central will be filled by Mrs. Marietta Brewer Thomas, formerly a teacher in the Xenia city schools.

Owing to the marriage and subsequent resignation of Miss Hazel Moore, who was employed to teach in the McKinley school, Walter Raleigh Smith, of Fayette county, has been appointed to that position.

Miss Elsa Davis who was employed to teach the opportunity school at the Spring Hill building, has been forced to resign because of ill health, and her place has been taken by Mrs. Anna M. K. Protzman of Osborn, who has had special training in that work. At the Lincoln school, Miss Ruby Martin who is to be married has resigned and her place has been filled by Miss Gertrude Marie Bolden, formerly a teacher in the Lincoln high school at Springfield, Mo.

Out of the staff of 72 teachers, including the superintendent, who will teach in the city schools the coming year, sixteen are new teachers. The Central high staff, is now eighteen instead of seventeen, with five new faces in the list of instructors.

TAFT LIKES TITLE OF JUDGE BEST

Cincinnati, Sept. 3.—William H. Taft, former president, and governor general of the Philippines, likes "Judge" the best of all his surnames.

A newspaperman asked him how he should be addressed. The judge chuckled: "Well, son," he replied, "in Washington, where they're formal, and give you all that's coming to you, they call me, 'Mr. Chief Justice.' My friends call me 'Judge.' That's what I like best. Suppose you call me that."

NEARLY 2,000 ARE EXPECTED TO ENTER SCHOOL THIS YEAR

An approximate school attendance for the coming year of about 2,000 pupils, is the prediction C. A. Waltz, superintendent of the city schools.

School opens here in all schools Tuesday, September 6, and with an attendance of 1,907 registered in June at the close of the last term, it is anticipated that with in-coming beginners and children who have recently moved here, that the enrollment books will show 2,000 for the coming term.

A rule recently agreed upon by the Board of Education affecting beginners will be used for the first time this fall. The rule provides that children starting to school for the first time, who will attain the age of six before December 1, may not enter the first grade except during the first two weeks of September and children attaining the age of six before May 1, may not enter the first grade except during the first two weeks of February.

It is the request of Superintendent Waltz that the children be enrolled promptly on the first day of school, in order to avoid confusion and for the convenience of both teachers and children. The High School enrollment at Central High alone is expected to run well over 400 pupils, according to an estimate made by Principal Harper Pendry. The enrollment when school started last year was 369 and at the end of the year was 377. About 100 pupils will enter school this fall from Junior High School, and is estimated that there will be about 140 freshmen, with the Xenia township pupils who will start in this fall. Besides the number there will be about 124 Sophomores, 88 Juniors and 60 Seniors, which will run the total to well over 400.

All seniors and juniors are asked to report the first day at eight o'clock in the morning by Mr. Pendry and sophomores and freshmen are requested to report at 12:15 o'clock. The same general daily program of seniors and juniors attending school in the morning and sophomores and freshmen in the afternoon will be followed out this year as it was last. Students are now visiting the Principal's office and getting their credits and subjects arranged for the coming school term.

In a letter mailed to students and patrons, Principal Pendry said that owing to the crowded conditions of the school, a program of work satisfactory to everyone would be difficult but that every consideration will be given the convenience of students and parents in arranging the schedule.

Some of the teachers for the coming year, have already arrived but others will take full advantage of their vacation period by returning to this city Sunday or Monday in time for the opening day. Jerry Katherman, teacher of mathematics and rector of athletics with Mrs. Katherman, has arrived in this city, and they have an apartment in the Casad home on North Detroit street. Miss Marian Lane, home economics teacher, from Marblehead, Ohio, has also returned for the school.

THREE GAME SERIES IS NOW ARRANGED

A three game baseball series has been arranged between the Osborn Indians and the Fairfield Pilots, the first game to be played Sunday, at Osborn.

The second game of the series will be played at Fairfield, Labor Day, and if a third is necessary it will be staged September 11. Owing to the proximity of the towns and the rivalry that has always existed between them, the games will be watched with interest and an attendance of 600 or more is expected.

Haddix, regular twirler for the Indians, will again be on the mound, opposing Maxton, of Springfield who will hurl for the Fairfield team.

WE Serve You

SERVICE!

We like to put it in capitals that way because we believe it is the most important thing in the battery business.

Of course we can't make a new battery out of an old one, or a good battery out of a poor one, or a long-lived battery out of a short-lived one. There are limits even to battery service.

But we can make any battery last longer and serve better if you give us a chance. We can make the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery do both—and it already holds records for long life and reliability.

We can always do more with a battery if we get a chance right at the start, although we are ready to help any time. Come in!

You'll say, too, that we give—SERVICE!

HARDING ENLISTS WANAMAKER'S AID FOR FAMILY OF 18

With the backing of President Harding and John Wanamaker, the future of what is said to be the largest family in New York, the household composed of Mr. and Mrs. Domenico Zaccachea and their sixteen children, seems assured despite the high cost of living.

As a result of the interest the President has taken in the Zaccacheas since he first saw a newspaper photograph of Mrs. Zaccachea and her prodigious brood, Mr. Wanamaker, who employs the father of the family, also has interested himself in the family's welfare and is finding places for the younger Zaccacheas in his New York establishment.

The correspondence between the President and Mrs. Zaccachea and the letters exchanged by the President and Mr. Wanamaker, made public at the White House, tells the story of the President's interest in a humanly appealing manner. The earnestness of the President and Mr. Wanamaker's quick response to the President's suggestions likewise are evidence that both men believe the almost unknown modern feat of rearing a family of sixteen children should not go unheralded.

GERMANY STRIVING FOR MARINE POWER.

Vigorous efforts by German shipping concerns to regain, at least in part, their former dominant position on the world's seas are shown by a table published giving the number of vessels launched this year in German shipyards. From January 1 until the beginning of August fifty-four boats, totaling approximately 290,000 tons, were built in Germany, according to the list. That is about one launched every fourth day. In June even every third day a new steamship was completed, but the actual number may be even higher, as the yards give out figures most unwillingly.

The average size of these boats is around 6600 tons, but four of the largest, which are owned by the Hugo Stinnes Company, reach 12,000 tons. The Hamburg-American alone, according to the table, ordered one-fifth of the total number. Three vessels were built for foreign countries—Denmark, Holland and the free State of Danzig.

German shipbuilding circles since the war lay more stress on economic boats than on impressive ones. Whereas formerly Germany put pride in turning out huge vessels equipped with all the luxuries, now it is bent upon acquiring a fleet of small but highly modern economic boats that are less expensive in construction and operation. Hand in hand with the building of new boats go the hiring and purchasing of vessels from other countries, mainly Denmark.

Germany is doing everything in her power to regain the number of boats she was compelled to surrender to the Allies on account of the peace treaty. Her shipyards are carrying out much repair work for foreign companies. The other day a British steamship arrived at Hamburg for that purpose.

SHORTAGE OF HOUSES.

There is no easy immediate panacea for the ills forced on us by the housing situation.

Landlords keep rents up because we have 20,000 houses less than we need instead of 18,000 houses more than we need, as was the case in the years before the war when we built 7500 houses a year. Those who have the courage and the initiative, as well as the cash, to build now, are in many cases putting up houses that are beyond the purse of those who need them most. Yet the only way to supply the deficiency is to build.

Richard Spillane supplies from Toledo an instance that ought to be an example emulated: A man in that city was told that in the deadness and the dearth of business he was a fool to plan a real estate development. But he went ahead. In five weeks he sold sites to a value of $613,450. The buyers agreed to build. "As a matter of good business and good citizenship," he says, "I believe bankers should lend encouragement to home-builders and make the cost to them as low as possible. Rent will not come down unless we build more houses."

There are some who cannot afford to build houses. They must continue to pay rent. They will be more likely to be able to do so if those who can build houses take the earliest advantage of the scaling down of costs to do so. With more houses on the market, landlords will be forced to abate their rentals. The present crucial condition is ideal for the profiteer and for no one else.

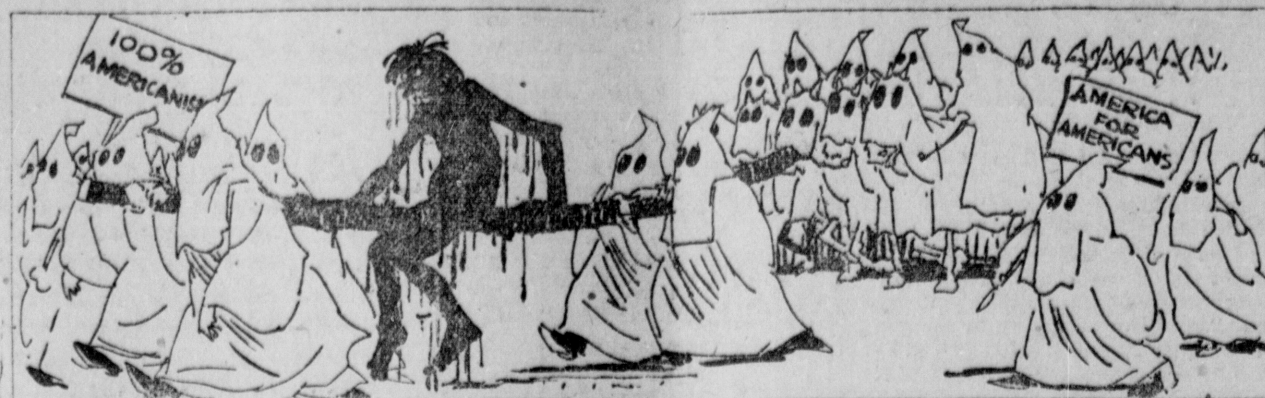

The National Industrial Conference Board reports, as the result of a country-wide survey, a slight decrease—about 1 percent—in rentals paid from March to July by wage-earners the country over. Rentals are still exceedingly high, but it is felt that they have reached their peak, and that any change in the near future will be downward. That this opinion is correct is the hope of a multitude in quest of a home.

GUNMEN.

The guys who'd kill us are running loose; they plug and drill us without excuse. Their guns are cracking throughout the land, the stiff they're stacking to beat the band. When darkness gathers the gunmen rise, and shoot our fathers and other guys; they rise by dozens, a glistly crew, and shoot our cousins, and nephews, too. Their ways don't suit us, they jar our souls; they come and shoot us, then take our rolls; if they'd just rob us we might not care; alas, they mob us, with guns to spare. The bullets drizzle along the road; the law's affizzle cops buffaloes. The law seems able to cinch the gent who, at his table, drinks two-per-cent; it brings disaster to that poor cuss who fast and faster propelled his bus; with paltry muckers it fills the jails; it catches suckers and misses whales. The gunmen scamper, and crime is rife; they put a damper on modern life; their tribe increases, like fungus plants; they shoot our nieces and eke our aunts. I fear to travel around a block, lest shot and gravel give me a shock. In nooks and crannies the gunmen crouch, and shoot our grannies—and hence my grouch.

IT ALL DEPENDS ON THE POINT OF VIEW

OF COURSE IF ALL THE MEMBERS AGREED WITH US ON THE DEFINITION OF 100% AMERICANISM IT WOULD BE GREAT.

BUT IF THE MEMBERS GOT TO RUNNING TO HIGH BROWS AND PURITANS IT MIGHT BE UNCOMFORTABLE FOR SOME OF OUR FRIENDS.

ON THE OTHER HAND WE DOUBT IF REAL JUSTICE WILL EVER BE DEALT OUT TO THE RECKLESS AUTOIST IN ANY OTHER WAY.

STILL, WHILE WE BELIEVE IN RED BLOODED AMERICANISM WE WOULDN'T GO AS FAR AS SOME FOLKS.

LONG STORY OF INDUSTRIAL CONFLICT LIES BACK OF ATTEMPTED INVASION OF LOGAN COUNTY, WEST VIRGINIA

LOGAN, W. Va., Sept. 3.—Back of the attempted invasion of the Logan county coal fields by union miners and sympathizers from Kanawha county, the New River district and from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, lies a long story of industrial conflict.

For fifteen years, the coal operators of Logan county and the upper Guyan valley have fought the United Mine Workers successfully. They have prevented the unionization of this coal field at the cost of probably millions of dollars and some lives.

In an equal number of years the United Mine Workers have made continual efforts to organize the field. It has cost the Union an enormous sum of money and undoubtedly some organizers have lost their lives.

This effort to organize is not confined to the Guyan valley field, operators of Mingo and McDowell counties, on the Norfolk and Western railroad have likewise successfully fought organization. Federal troops were present in these fields a long period last winter when mine property was dynamited and operators threatened.

The other fields in West Virginia are organized. These are in Kanawha county, on coal River and the Consolidated Coal Company's field in the northern part of the state. The consolidation is controlled by former Senator Clarence Watson who has favored the union in his enormous operations.

Here is the picture that the Logan operator draws of his field: Since the building of the Guyan valley branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio and the opening of the Logan county coal fields, that district has produced more coal, more consistently than any other coal section in the state.

In the winter of 1919 when the big coal strike occurred the Logan non-union field produced great quantities of coal. Until the present threatening invasion of the field a normal production has been the union organizers, but of big bodies of armed invaders.

The operators have openly declared they will prevent unionization of their fields at any cost. They insist on the privilege of operating their mines as they see fit and without outside interference. It is claimed the union does not interfere with the operation of the mines in designating certain rules for work that must be followed, and what jobs shall be performed by the various men.

The claim is made not only for the Logan field, but for the union Mingo fields. The superintendent of the Sycamore Coal Co. near Williamson, said that he could not operate his mine efficiently if it is unionized.

On the other hand a bulk of claims by the United Mine Workers. They aver that the Logan coal miners desire to be organized and have the advantages said to be offered by the United Mine Workers. The mine union declares that the miners in the Logan and Mingo fields are subjected to an autocratic rule inflicted by coal operators, that they are not permitted the liberties offered American citizens by the constitution and they have no voice in their own affairs.

The United Mine Workers insist on their right to go into the Logan fields and discuss organization with the miners. Their allegation is that when organizers go into the fields of Logan they are assaulted and driven out by the Logan county authorities.

All these statements reflect the background of one of the most deplorable industrial situations in the history of America.

Now coming down to the specific invasion:

The miners, with the knowledge that it is impossible for organizers to go into the Logan fields, determined upon a colossal demonstration to prove their power to the Logan authorities and operators. They assembled at Marmet, in Kanawha county.

They openly declared they were going to Logan county to "get Don Chafin" the sheriff and to "liberate Logan county miners."

CAMORRA'S DEATH LIST INCREASING

New York, Sept. 3.—Advices from Police Chief Michael O'Brien, of St. Louis, Mo., describing 12 murders in that city ascribed to the Camorra advanced to 150 the total of murders credited to that body in all parts of the country. This total is more than conservative, as 200 murders were tabulated in New York alone. But Police Sergeant Michael Piaschetti, head of the squad at work on the case, said he did not desire to accredit to the Camorra every unsolved murder until it bore all the earmarks.

Among the data sent to New York was a report of the alleged murder and burial of Antonio Daniele, wealthy St. Louis expressman, 45 years old, who disappeared in St. Louis in May, 1911. Lieutenant William Walton of the St. Louis detective force, is seeking evidence on this murder in New York.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

A 275 Word Talk About Mistakes. Mistakes (are our humanest liabilities. And they quite often become assets to us, too.

Mistakes are well worth thinking over—but it is destructive to brood over them. The best place to put your mistakes is behind you. Then as you go forward you will not stumble over them.

Many people drive mistakes before them as though they were driving a flock of sheep to pasture. As a consequence, they get no place. And other people coming up to them, cut a wide path from them as they pass. The whole world hates excuses. And I have an idea that God does, too.

Harboring a mistake is to enthrone an excuse.

The last thing on earth that I would want to know about a man or woman would be the mistakes that they had made. I know for one thing that I wouldn't want to take up much time talking about my own—for it would take too long!

It is how you use your mistakes that counts.

Even the dumb animal walks around the place that has once tripped him up. Despite our advantage in intelligence, we humans chum all too much and often with our former mistakes.

With our mistakes behind us we can not only see the horizon, but the sky above us as well!

Mistakes leave. They sober. And they point one to better and higher ends. And they tell of one's frailty and mortalities.

In the College of Experience the greatest teacher is Professor Mistake!

And we all have lessons to learn in his classroom. Let none of us forget what he has to tell us.

A Chat About Reduction.

I am very glad to see from my correspondence that as many women are interested in reducing today as two or three years ago, when we first began to discuss scientific methods of reducing, in fact I am inclined to think that even more women are interested.

I know that the caloric method is the most difficult one to begin with. At first it seems so frightfully complicated to find out the caloric value of foods and to sit down and figure out for yourself the actual arithmetical value of every least little thing that you eat. And yet the method is sure because it has been scientifically worked out by experts. Besides it has been proved again and again by the number of women who have taken the trouble to find out about calories and who have reduced as a consequence.

I have simplified the whole subject as much as I possibly can, and when I talk about it I do it in as untechnical a way as possible. Yet, even so, it will be rather complicated for you.

First you must find out what you weigh.

Then you must find out exactly what you are eating.

Lastly you must find out exactly what you should eat.

To simplify things as much as possible I have prepared a couple of charts which will solve the last three problems. One is a table of weights from which you can find what you should weigh, the other a table of caloric values. I will gladly mail these to anyone who asks for them if he will, for convenience, enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope with her request.

C. L.—Smoke one less each day, so you will not feel any bad effects from it. If you mother knows you have been doing this and is anxious for you to give it up, she will be the one to help you. Why not confide in her and if it is necessary she will have the doctor give you something—that is, if you need it. It would help you if you could persuade your brother to join you in breaking the habit. Get into a sporting spirit with it and see which one can accomplish it first.

Peggy.—Olive oil makes a nourishing massage. Cocoa butter is also a good one. Consult the doctor about the tiny red veins in your face. If you are full blooded, a change in diet may relieve these veins.

Blue Eyes.—Massage the scalp with hot crude oil the night before the usual shampoo and if the dandruff continues send a stamped addressed envelope for a formula for a tonic.

SAYS HIGH TAXES ARE DRIVING U. S. TOWARD SOCIALISM

Akron, O., Sept. 1.—Declaring that high taxation is driving the United States toward socialism, C. L. Knight, representative in congress, addressed the members of the Kiwanis club here last night.

"The American people are becoming acquiescent under taxation," he said. "The mania for high taxation was rampant before the war and is worse now. Every nation down through the ages, that has gone to ruin, had high taxation as one of the major contributing forces in its ruin. And we face that same danger today."

"We say we want the way to preserve democracy and overthrow autocracy. But we are over centralizing things at Washington. Our government and all."

Knight said that in four years federal taxes have increased from $6 to $22 per capita. He declared administration cost has jumped from $41,000,000 to $149,000,000 in six years and the "end is not yet in sight," he concluded.

WIFE TAKES HUSBANDS ADVICE

And Is Made Well Again by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Springfield, Mass.—"The doctor told my husband that I had to have an operation, otherwise I would be a sickly woman and could not have any more children on account of my weakened condition. I refused to have the operation. My husband asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see if it would not help me. For the first four months I could do but little work, had to lie down most of the time, was nervous and could eat hardly anything, but my husband was always reminding me to take the Vegetable Compound, which I did. Of my eight children this last one was the easiest birth of all and I am thankful for your Vegetable Compound. I recommend it to my friends when I hear them complaining about their ills."—Mrs. M. NATALE, 72 Fremont St., Springfield, Mass.

Sickly, ailing women make unhappy homes, and after reading Mrs. Natalie's letter one can imagine how this home was transformed by her restoration to health. Every woman who suffers from such ailments should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. It is surely worth while.

ENGLE FLORAL CO. WINS FIRST PRIZE IN PARADE FRIDAY; BIG CROWD THROGS XENIA STREETS AS FESTIVAL NEARS END

The decorated automobile of the Engle Floral Company, owned and operated by Edward Lampert, won first prize of $50 awarded by the Festival Production Company for the best decorated machine in the automobile parade, held, Friday, in connection with Sister Cities and Motor Day of the fall festival.

Two automobile parades were held, the first at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and the second at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. The judges watched both parades but did not make a decision until after the second parade in the evening. The Lampert float was made in battle-ship form, and highly decorated with flowers and plants, a little girl occupying a huge flower basket on top.

The decorated car of M. N. Hunter, Jamestown automobile dealer, who is exhibiting his cars at the automobile show won second prize of $25 in parade. He used a closed car with decorations of yellow and white. The car driven by Mrs. Bayless Thompson, also decorated in yellow and white, with a little girl riding astride the hood, won the third prize of $10.

Judges had a difficult time in making their selections other cars in the parade being especially attractive. Besides the machines that were competing for prizes in the events, a number of cars were decorated by the Festival Production Company, to add to the beauty of the parade and these cars led the parade occupied by officials of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Festival Company.

The judges were Mrs. S. M. McKay, Mrs. M. L. Wolf, M. W. Anderson and Clinton Beal. Although it rained Friday afternoon, after the first parade had concluded, it stopped long before time for the second parade, and neither event was marred by the weather. One of the largest crowds of festival week was on the streets Friday night, thronging the line of march of the automobile parade, and later enjoying the attractions on the midway.

Owing to the rain which fell around five o'clock, Friday afternoon, and the wind that accompanied it, Marvellous Mills and his assistant Foster Payne, did not walk the high wire stretched from the Gazette building to the Kingsbury building, over Detroit street. The regular act was called off, but was held as scheduled at 11 o'clock Friday night with some added features to further awe the huge crowd of watchers.

In walking the wire with his eyes blindfolded by a handkerchief, a "stunt" that was new to Xenia audiences, Mills slipped when about thirty feet out from the Gazette building and furnished an added thrill for the crowd. He recovered himself immediately however and without hesitation continued on his act. It was the only slip he has made here all week, although at Sidney last week he fell from the wire and caught himself by throwing his arm over the wire, later continuing with his act. Thousands wait until after 11 o'clock nightly to see him perform.

A rain which set in in a drizzle Friday night late and continued all night bid fair to mar to some extent the closing day of the big festival. At nine o'clock, the shower developed harder with prospects however of changing the weather to cooler and quitting before the afternoon program.

Saturday is "Bill Club Day" and Mardi Gras Day. Everybody with the first name of William agreeably shortened to "Bill" is invited to be in the "Bill Club" parade which is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Saturday night is Mardi Gras time, when hundreds of people are expected to throng the streets, in masks, and take part in the parade of masqueraders for which prizes are offered.

The masked parade is expected to give the final touch of merry-making to the carnival spirit that has pervaded the city all week and wind up the festival in a blaze of glory. With the usual Saturday night crowd on hand, it is anticipated that the streets will be practically impassable after six o'clock. The success of the festival so far, gives reasonable assurance that it will be repeated next year, according to one merchant. The merchants are finding that as a crowd-bringing attraction, it is unexcelled and the opinion is expressed that it is one of the most successful affairs of its kind ever held here.

This photograph shows the method employed by Dr. J. A. Larsen, psychologist of the Berkeley Police Department, to get William A. Hightower's heart reaction when questions about the murder of Father Patrick Heslin, of San Francisco, were put to him. The instruments used were a sphygmomanometer, a tyros blood pressure machine and a pneumograph. The apparatus made graphic charts of the suspected man's heart action and respiration, showing irrational emotions when leading questions were asked, while to all outward appearances Hightower, was calm and unmoved. Dr. Larson sits at left facing Hightower, with an assistant standing at the sphygmomanometer.

Meet America's Champion Family! Parents Adopt 54

Douglas, Ariz.—Mr. and Mrs. Jose F. Estrada, of this city, are pa and ma to the champion family in America.

Fifty-five boys and girls is their lot—and every one of them an adopted child!

The fact that the stork wouldn't call at the Estrada home didn't lessen their love for children. Shortly after they were married, 30 years ago, the first little one was adopted.

Then adoption became almost a habit—not as charity, but simply because of a love for children.

During the past year only one little tot has been taken into the family.

"But," says Mrs. Estrada, "when business gets better we will find room for some more waifs."

Estrada manages to feed and clothe the 22 children who are still living at home. He runs a jitney bus between Douglas and Agua Prieta and is the owner of a small, unpretentious hotel.

"My hotel business is always bound to be good," he says. "At least I am sure of 22 regular customers for some time to come. That many of our children live with us. The rest of our family have married."

"Children are a sure cure for the blues," pa and ma agree!

O, MA! O, PA! COM'ERE Dads: How would you like to kiss 22 children goodnight, every evening?

Mothers: Would you enjoy having to mend 22 pairs of socks two or three times a week?

Mr. and Mrs. Jose F. Estrada of Douglas, Ariz., have these things—and a million more—to do because 22 of the 55 children they have adopted, are still living at home.

PRINCE OF WALES' 'MARRIAGE' PROFITS STIR CHURCH CLERGY

London—The nod of a prince may cost the State much gold, and it would appear that the future nuptials of the Prince of Wales may involve the Church of England quite a lot of expense.

At a time when Bishops with $50,000 a year and a palace are feeling the pinch, and Archdeacons are processing among the "new poor," this burden may become embarrassing.

The worst of it is that it is so uncertain. The finances of the Church of England will have to stand the strain without warning.

The matter arose in a quaint way at the national assembly of the Church of England when Lord Selborne moved that the Government should be asked to hand over to the assembly the income derived from the copyright of the revised prayer book, on the ground that it has been compiled by the laity and as the expense of the churchmen.

The prayer book has hitherto been printed by the King's printers and the Universities Press, but no profits come to the church.

So far all was plain sailing for no doubt the newly-revised prayer book will have a large sale, and National Assembly—like all newly created bodies—would like to get hold of some revenue.

But up rose the Bishop of Ripon and disclosed a most delicate consideration on the other side. It was "quite conceivable" that before long the Prince of Wales would be married, and this would entail alterations in the prayer book, the introduction of the name of the Princess of Wales etc.

When even slight alterations were made the cost ran into thousands of pounds and the cost of printing a revised prayer book would be very great.

Possible Losses
He pointed out that meanwhile the sale of the revised edition would be stopped by royal order until the Princess of Wales name was added, and he hinted very plainly that if they asked for the profits they might also be called upon to share the possible losses.

The Bishop's idea was that before the resolution was accepted the finance committee should make inquiries to which Canon Partridge made the reassuring reply that the Central Board's information went to show that the profits would certainly be considerable.

Taking the Risk
There can be little doubt that this is accurate in regard to the revised prayer book, because church people will want to follow alterations in the service but it is evidently and obviously quite impossible to estimate beforehand how large a proportion of those will be willing subsequently to buy another or revised version in order to secure the wording of the prayer for the Princess of Wales when she arrives on the scene.

If this number should prove small, there might be, as the Bishop of Ripon suggested a heavy loss on the transaction but the National Assembly decided to risk it and the resolution requesting the Government to hand over the profits was carried.

The prince we hope, will now realize that the Church of England looks to him with admiration—but with anxiety.

OIL GUSHERS ARE PRODUCING MUCH IN TAMPICO FIELD

Mexico City.—If all reports coming here from Tampico are true, great numbers of important new oil wells are being brought in at Amatlan and elsewhere in the oil district. Some of the gushers are reported to be producing 150,000 barrels of oil a day. It is nothing to hear of new wells yielding 30,000 barrels a day.

Practically all of the new wells are on properties belonging to the great producing companies. It is known that these companies have been doing much drilling, and oil men here believe that the reports concerning new wells are substantially true, with the possibility of some exaggeration as to the amount of the daily production.

One of the companies which is reported to have brought in a spectacular gusher is the Tidemex and this was particularly interesting news to oil men because of the rather unlucky history of this company in Mexico. It is allied in a way with the Tidewater Oil Company and entered the Tampico region with almost limitless financial resources and with oil experts of every description.

The company acquired extensive and valuable property and outlined an ambitious program, which included the building of a railroad, pipe lines, and extensive terminal, tank farms and refinery.

Because the oil property of the company was looked upon as valuable and because the Tidemex managers were recognized experts in their line, it was expected that the Tidemex would quickly become one of the great producing companies of Mexico. But the first well of the company was a disappointment. The drills reached salt water, and work was stopped. This was at the time of reports that the oil field was narrowing to a small strip and is said to have caused changes in the plans of the company.

Drilling was continued, however. Now comes the report that the Tidemex has brought in a gusher, producing 150,000 barrels a day.

If the well is as great as described, oil men say, the Tidemex probably will go ahead with its extensive plans which call for the spending of millions.

FOOD IS TESTED

Columbus, Sept. 3.—Experts of the Ohio Health Department began feeding pigs and white mice samples of the food that made 200 persons ill at the Ohio State Fair grounds. They will watch the effects.

A representative of the Chicago firm that supplied the beef began a tour of inspection of stores where the food was sold. Similar investigations will be made in other cities. It is expected within a few days a report on the cause of the pomarine cases will be filed.

TWO GOOD LUNCHES

Foods must be especially delicious, this weather, to tempt the appetite. And don't be afraid to have plenty of ice on the table! Ice your water, your beverages, your butter and your side dishes containing tomatoes, olives etc., etc. A jaded appetite must be coaxed by an attractive looking board. Try the following little lunches:

Olive Hash in Lettuce Cups
Cinnamon Toast
Small whole Tomatoes

Iced Tea Black Chocolate Cake
Olive Hash: Put left-overs of beef sauté through the food chopper and season it highly with salt, pepper and several shopped slices of bacon which have been crisply fried; heat this mixture with a very little water in a saucepan till hot, then stir into it several tablespoons of finely-minced stuffed olives. Serve warm piled on small lettuce leaves, in individual portions. (A little left-over brown gravy may be used instead of the water when heating the meat, if you have it on hand.)

Black Chocolate Cake: (This recipe was contributed by a Reader Friend.) "1 cup grated unsweetened chocolate, 1 egg-yolk, 1/2 cup sweet milk; let these three ingredients boil together until thick, then cool and turn into a bowl. Add to the bowl also 1 1/2 cups of granulated sugar, 1/2 cup shortening, 2 whole eggs well-beaten, 2 cups of sifted flour, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in a little hot water, and 1 teaspoon vanilla (or use any favorite flavoring.) Mix well and bake in a moderate oven in loaf form for 45 minutes; or turn into layer-cake pans and bake in a hotter oven for about 30 minutes."

Egg-Cheese Sandwiches
Cabbage Salad Cornstarch Molds
Iced Coffee

Egg-Cheese Sandwiches: Boil hard as many eggs as there are people. Chop the whites finely, rub the yolks through a sieve; put these in a bowl and add 1 heaping teaspoon of finely-chopped American cheese for each egg used, salt and pepper to season, and enough of the manufactured mayonnaise dressing to make a stiff paste. Spread this paste on slices of white bread. These are nourishing sandwiches.

Cabbage Salad: Shred 1-2 a cabbage finely. Put it into a large salad bowl and mix it well with the following dressing: 2 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons cream or top milk, 2 teaspoons butter, 1 teaspoon sugar and 1-2 cup vinegar. Mix the mustard with a little of the vinegar, then turn all these ingredients together into a saucepan, place over fire, and stir until thick. Do not let it boil. Let cool then stir in 2 more teaspoons of cream. This salad needs no lettuce leaves.

"Anxious": Butterscotch Pie Filling: 1 cup brown sugar, butter size of an egg, yolks of 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons of flour, 1 cup boiling water, and 2 egg-whites. Cream together the sugar and butter; add the egg-yolks and flour, mixing well, then add the cup of boiling water and cook in a saucepan till thick. Flavor with 1 teaspoon vanilla and pour into a baked lower crust (as for any meringue pie.) Beat the whites of the 2 eggs stiff with 1 tablespoon sugar and spread these over the pie; slip pie in oven till meringue browns.

THE NEW GENERATION

By Jane Phelps

JOAN TELLS OF A GHOST CHAPTER 28

For days Margaret felt the weight of her daughter's displeasure. Neither of them mentioned Craig Forrester's name, but the old familiar 'Mumsie' was discarded for the formal 'Mother' and in other ways Joan held herself aloof.

But somehow Margaret cared less than before.

"Of course I should feel awfully silly if Joan knew about my being all dressed up that morning, and about the luncheon," she said to herself, "but I shall have to begin to assert myself a little—as far as my age goes—or Joan will have me laid away on a shelf for the rest of my life."

Then Margaret considered. Should she show Joan the rose and gray dress? What if she hung it up in the closet with her other clothes and let Joan find it? Craig Forrester had said it was so becoming; he had admired her in it; had declared she looked like Joan's sister. Perhaps it was wrong for her to think herself too old to dress prettily and stylishly; or for enjoyment. She had so enjoyed Forrester's call. She had so enjoyed so swiftly. And time so often dragged with her. She was alone so much. Joan was so often with her schoolmates.

One morning in an access of independence following a night of almost sleepless thinking caused by Joan's attitude—something she had again said about her mother's age—Margaret took the rose and gray dress from the box and hung it in the closet. She put the dainty rose colored slippers in plain sight on the shelf, the stockings in her bureau drawer. When this was done she breathed a sigh of relief.

"Please get my sweater for me, Joan?" she asked as they sat on the porch that afternoon. Malcolm Frost, Clarence Tobin and Hortense Thompson had walked home with Joan. All four had raided the cake box, and were contentedly munching little frosted cakes.

Joan was gone what seemed an unusually long time. When she finally returned with the sweater and a serious face she laid it upon her mother's lap without a word.

"Thank you," Margaret murmured.

"One would think you had seen a ghost, Joan. Why pull such a serious face?" Malcolm Frost teased.

"I did see a ghost."

"Tell us about it." "It was nothing but the ghost of an old woman trying to seem young. She was all dressed in rose and gray, and she gave me the shivers." The contortion which followed illustrated Joan's feelings although it was an oppressively warm evening.

"How interesting!" Hortense exclaimed, "do tell us more about it. Where was the ghost?"

"In the closet."

"In the closet?"

"Let's all go and see it!" Clarence Tobin suggested.

"No," Margaret said quietly, "what Joan saw was a new dress I have just bought. The rest was all her imagination."

"Of course we knew she was stringing us, Mrs. Hayden," Malcolm returned. "Ghosts aren't walking about in the middle of the afternoon."

"Wouldn't you just love to see a really truly ghost?" Hortense asked shivering delightedly at the thought.

Both boys launched at once into a description of stories they had heard or read about ghosts and their habits. Joan was unusually quiet but they were so interested in their subject they paid no attention, really did not notice.

"I saw a play once where a woman who had been dead 20 years came back to her old home and at night walked about. The queer thing about it was that although she had been dead 20 years she had on the same dress she wore when last seen alive, and there wasn't a wrinkle in it." Hortense contributed her story after Malcolm had finished a hair-raising one concerning a graveyard ghost he had read about.

"I thought I saw a ghost one night," Clarence broke in. "I was visiting my aunt down on Long Island. It was an awful hot night, and my window was open. It opened onto a wide porch, but was high up so I wasn't a bit afraid. I woke up awfully sudden and right on the bed with me was a great big white thing moving slowly up towards me. I tell you I was scared stiff! I shut my eyes and pretty soon I felt the ghost's breath on my face. I tried to scream but it was a long time before I could, then I let out a yowl that you could have heard a mile. My aunt came running in, and the ghost jumped off the bed. It was a great big white cat belonging to one of the neighbors. You bet I shut my window nights after that."

"I should think you would," Margaret said sympathetically. "And I don't blame you for thinking it was a ghost."

"Neither do I!" Joan broke in, her intense interest in the tale had caused her to forget her resentment—for a moment.
